Dear Parents and Carers,

What a wonderful celebration we had today to commemorate the King's Coronation! A school full of crowns, flags, singing, dancing, laughter and happiness is a fabulous place to be! Thank you also for your flexibility with the changes due to the weather forecasts. I hope that when you and your child look back, you'll remember this happy occasion and how we came together as a whole school to mark this historic occasion.

Please have a lovely weekend and I look forward to seeing you on Tuesday.

Best wishes

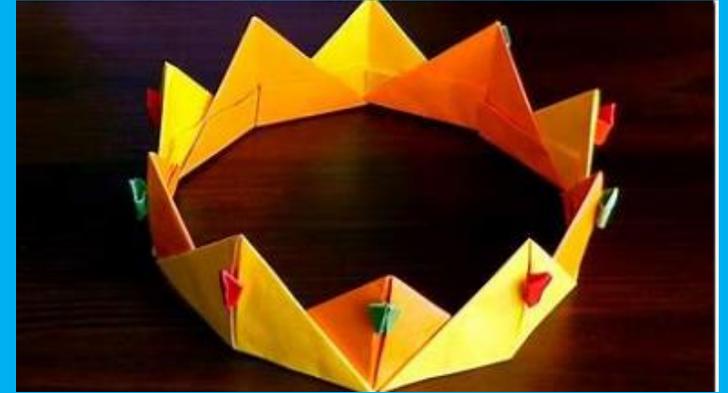

Mrs Fennelly

Poster of the Week

Today, we talked about the wonderful Coronation celebration we had together with the picnic lunch and the singing celebrations. We also talked about how the day will allow us to have wonderful memories for the future.

Would you like to make a crown for the coronation? Take a look at some of these ideas.....

Anti-bullying Ambassadors

In this week's meeting, our ambassadors shared the results from their interviews with Miss Garrard and Mr Howley concerning online safety.

We have decided that this area will be our next focus and are planning workshops, information sharing for parents via the newsletter and links to helpful information to keep pupils safe online.

The areas of concern shared by Mr Howley and Miss Garrard, which the ambassadors also had experience of, was the use of whatsapp and tik tok. They would like to run workshops in Year 5 and 6 where pupils consider informal agreements to keep everyone safe and comfortable online.

We will continue to develop and implement our ideas in the coming weeks.

One of our ambassadors wanted to share this poem they found:

What to do with Worries

Shout them to the ocean
sigh them to the moon
sing them to the sun

Paint them in a picture
put them in a poem
chant them on a run

List them in a letter
post them in a box
solve them one by one

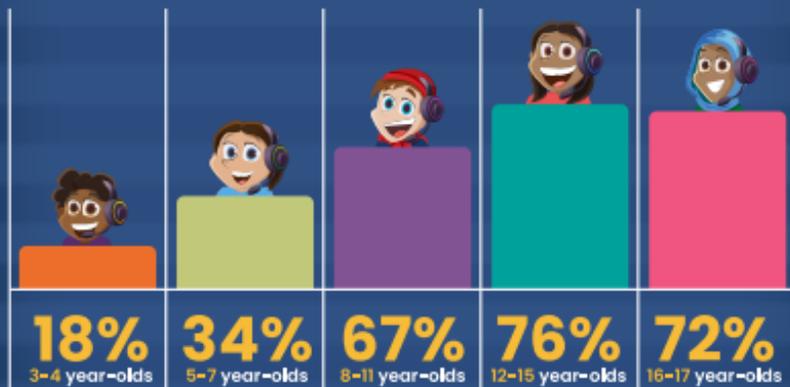

In school worries can be shared through:

- The worry monster in each classroom
- The worry box in each classroom
- Email
- Speaking to any adult
- Talking to Miss Garrard or one of the other DSLs
- Asking an ambassador for support

Artist of the Week- Alexandra Dillon

Alexandra Dillon is a Los Angeles artist known for her paintings and portraits on found objects and tools.

Poem of the Week-

May

May is the month
Of sunshine and flowers

Birds in their nests,

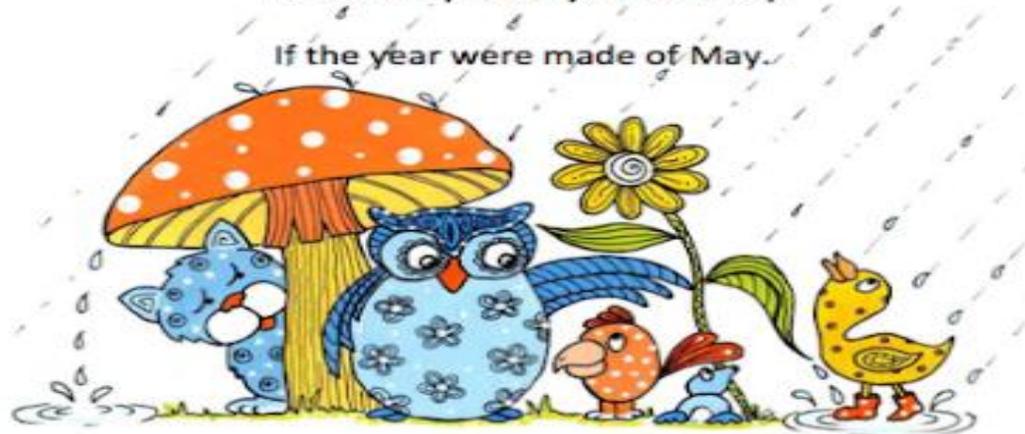

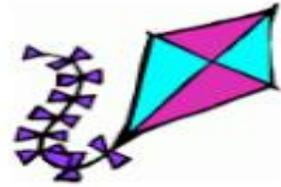

And one or two showers.

Games to play and kites to fly

Or just looking at the sky.

We could spend a year this way

If the year were made of May.

Inspirational Person of the Week-Rianna Charles

As a costume standby, it's my job to make sure there's continuity for all the costumes across scenes in films and on TV shows. Scenes are often shot out of order so it's my job to make sure that, when they're edited into chronological order, there aren't noticeable changes in characters' costumes within scenes.

On a typical day, we spend some time in the morning prepping the costumes (steaming and pressing them) and then help dress the actors. We'll go through the scripts for the day to see what the filming order is and then head onto set with our artists (the actors). We often travel with them to and from set if they've got any scenes they aren't in and help with any costume changes. At the end of the day, we'll help them out of their costumes and wash and prepare them for the next day. We stay with our artists throughout filming so we need to be very attentive to their needs and build good relationships with them.

Rianna Charles is a costume standby who has worked on many TV programmes and films including The Fantastic Beasts films. She makes and adapts costumes.

Musician of the Week- Andrew Lloyd Webber

Journey Into Musical Theatre

Lloyd Webber was born on 22nd March 1948. He studied at Magdalen College, Oxford, before moving to the Royal College of Music in London. In collaboration with lyricist Tim Rice, Lloyd Webber began producing musical theatre shows. His shows are famous for their blend of different styles of music, including rock and roll and classical opera. They are also known for their dramatic staging and memorable melodies. In 1977, Lloyd Webber founded a company now known as the Really Useful Group. It is one of the largest theatre operators in London. Several of his musical theatre productions have run for over a decade in the West End, London and on Broadway, New York.

Lloyd Webber has produced many musical theatre productions. Some examples are:

- Joseph and the Amazing Technicolour Dreamcoat
- Jesus Christ Superstar
- Cats
- Phantom of the Opera
- School of Rock
- Cinderella

Recognition of Success

Lloyd Webber has had a very successful career, winning many awards, including:

- three Grammy awards and one Grammy Legend award
- seven Tony awards
- seven Olivier awards
- an Oscar
- an International Emmy
- a Golden Globe award
- a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame for services to theatre

As of April 2022, he was one of only 16 people to have ever won an Emmy, a Grammy, an Oscar and a Tony award.

In 1992, he was knighted by Queen Elizabeth II and became known as Sir Andrew Lloyd Webber. In 1997, he was made a life peer of the House of Lords and became known as Baron Andrew Lloyd Webber. His full title is The Lord Lloyd-Webber.

Think of the Week

A think is an unusual question that makes you think. A beguiling question about everyday things that stops you in your tracks and helps you start to look at the world in a whole new light.

Would you rather be a pencil or a pen?

Computing science is a fundamental principle of our computing curriculum and like other subjects, has specific vocabulary terms to learn. Learning and understanding these terms supports children to become independent computer scientists. Have a go at learning some of the terms below!

Programming is designing and writing instructions for a computer in a language it understands.

Sequence means arranging instructions for algorithms and programs in a particular order.

Repetition in programming means repeating the execution of certain instructions (creating loops).

Selection is when a computer executes instructions if a particular condition is met or not.

A variable stores a piece of information in the computer's memory while a program is running so it can be retrieved later.

Computer networks are a collection of computer systems and other devices connected together to 'talk' to each other by exchanging data.

Internet services are a range of services made possible by the internet, including the WWW and email.

A computer system is made up of hardware, software and any peripheral devices required to operate it.

Control means writing instructions that control physical systems, such as sensors and motors.

Input data is sent to a computer system from devices such as a keyboard, mouse or sensor.

Output data is sent from a computer system to the outside world, e.g. displayed on a computer screen.

Simulations, such as aircraft simulators, model real-world or imaginary situations to explore different scenarios.

Coronation Quiche

The Royal Family have announced which recipes have been selected as the official coronation party food! The 'Coronation quiche', hand-picked by King Charles III and Queen Camilla because it is perfect for sharing, is described on the Royal Family website as 'a deep quiche with a crisp, light pastry case and delicate flavours of spinach, broad beans and fresh tarragon. Eat hot or cold with a green salad and boiled new potatoes - perfect for a Coronation Big Lunch!' The recipe was created by royal head chef Mark Flanagan. Three other dishes have been created by celebrity chefs for the big day. Ken Hom's Coronation Roast Rack of Lamb with Asian-style Marinade, Nadiya Hussain's Coronation Aubergine and Adam Handling's Strawberry and Ginger Trifle. 'Aubergines often feature as a side dish when served at a table for dinner, but not here,' says 2015 Great British Bake Off winner Nadia Hussain. 'We are taking this delicious aubergine, coating it with flavour, frying till tender and then drizzling over the simplest coronation dressing. It's like dinner at my mum's collided with my lunches at school to create this beauty.'

Royal Recognition

Buckingham Palace has announced that more than 850 community and charity representatives have been invited to the coronation of King Charles III, as a mark of recognition. Among them is Max Woosey, a 13-year-old schoolboy, who has raised more than £750k for his local North Devon hospice by sleeping in a tent for the past three years, after starting his fundraising during the first Covid lockdown. During his camping adventure, which has earned him a British Empire Medal (BEM), a Blue Peter Gold Badge and a Guinness World Record for the largest sum raised by camping, he has camped in some very interesting places! He has stayed overnight in his tent at 10 Downing Street, a London Zoo enclosure - next to a lion, on the grass at Twickenham Stadium and on the balcony of a presidential suite at the Mandarin Oriental Hotel, Hyde Park. Also invited is Manju Malhi, a professional chef from Uxbridge, London, who was awarded a BEM for setting up 'conference call cooking' online during lockdown. Talking about her invitation, she said, '...it is amazing. I was born in the UK but am of Indian origin, so it's like a sense of belonging, and bringing together. Regardless of whether one is a republican or a royalist, it's a good thing to be part of.'

Eagle dad and foster chick

A male bald eagle, who sat on a rock thinking it was an egg, gets the family he longed for as he becomes a foster dad to an injured baby eagle. Murphy, a 31-year-old bald eagle, who lives at the World Bird Sanctuary in Missouri, USA, has become famous by making a nest for, incubating and protecting a special stone – named RockBaby by staff at the sanctuary. His keepers say that he believed the rock to be an unhatched eagle egg that he must look after. As Murphy had shown such fatherly behaviour, he was their first choice when an injured two week old baby eagle was in need of a parent. 'Murphy and his new charge are bonding beautifully,' said staff at the sanctuary. 'If you watch carefully, you can see Murphy waiting for the baby to eat. When the baby doesn't eat right away, he takes a bit of food, and then the baby begins to eat. This is the kind of bonding we're looking for.' The eagle was brought to the centre after it became injured and needed help following its nest blowing down in a storm. Murphy has lived at the sanctuary for the past 30 years as he is unable to fly due to a permanent wing injury. The national bird of the USA is one of the largest raptors in the world, weighing up to 7kg, with a wingspan of 2m! When baby eaglets hatch, their entire bodies are covered with light grey feathers, at around 3 weeks old they start to turn brown. They won't have their distinctive brown and white colouring until they are at least 4 years old.

Can you prepare for emergency situations?

I don't think you can prepare because it's a big shock.

George

I think you can do lots of preparation for emergencies but in the end, you never know how you will react.

Yuni

We can prepare for lots of common ones like fires but some you can never prepare for.

Graham

I think it is a good idea as it can save your life. It will help people to prepare or evacuate quickly. The siren will help blind people as they can hear it. Bad idea if your phone is not working or you don't have a phone. It may get annoying if it is happening a lot.
